House Defeats Urban Proposal

JFK Says He'll Win 'Sooner or Later'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has torpedoed President Kennedy's plan to establish a Cabinet-level department of urban affairs. But he says there will be such a department "sooner or later."

The lopsided 264-150 House vote Wednesday also killed Kennedy's plans to put a Negro, Robert C. Weaver, in the Cabinet for the first time. Weaver, now head of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, would have become the urban affairs secretary.

In turning back Kennedy's reorganization proposal 111 Democrats, mostly Southerners, joined 153 Republicans. Thirteen Republicans crossed over to support the President, voting with 137 Democrats for the plan.

At his news conference Kennedy blamed his expected but stunning setback on sectionalism.

He said: "If we in this country began to adopt the system that everyone who lives in a city area voted against those things which were of assistance to the farmer, and everybody who comes from a rural area voted against those policies which provided a better life for people in the city this country would come to a grinding halt."

Expressing regret that Congress had rejected the plan, Kennedy said he still regarded creation of such a department vitally important. "I don't think it is so much the administration's loss as it is a loss for the cities and the country," he said.

In a statement blistering the Republican party as "blindly obstructionist," Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey took

Legal Gambling Seen As Answer To Money Problem

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The answer to Ohio's money problems is legalized gambling, says a political unknown who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

The candidate is Alexander G. Metrakos of Cleveland who, in his May primary race, faces some not inconsiderable opposition from Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy.

The text of Metrakos' statement: "The State of Ohio has many problems. To help solve these problems money is needed. The only way to obtain this money without putting any more taxes on the people of Ohio is to legalize gambling."

"The money received by legalizing gambling will help: 1. Employment; 2. cut taxes; 3. old age; 4. mental health; 5. schools; 6. welfare (relief); 7. keep industry in Ohio by reducing taxes on industry."

"We must face reality for gambling is here to stay. No law will stop it. In the old days whisky was bootlegged. We stopped it by legalizing the sale of whisky and

George's Day Boosts Value Of Dollar

WASHINGTON (AP) — That silver dollar George Washington is supposed to have thrown across the Rappahannock River would have bought him anything from a typewriter to a television set in Washington today.

But he would have had to get up pretty early to make sure he got the bargain.

Thousands of shoppers were looking for the choicest, cheapest buys as merchants marked the 230th anniversary of Washington's birth with their annual super sales.

Typewriters — "in good condition" — were going for 22 cents and up, used TV sets for as little as 98 cents — if you got there in time. Dozens of determined shoppers spent the cold, rainy night at store entrances to be first in line when the doors opened.

Government workers and many others had the day off, and police expected more than half a million shoppers to show up for the bargain spree.

Washington newspapers published jumbo editions to advertise the birthday sales. The Evening Star published 164 pages Wednesday, the biggest weekday edition in its 109-year history. The Post put out a 108-page paper today.

First come, first served was the rule, and quantities were limited on the sale goods.

One automobile dealer listed a 1953 model car at $8. Another published this frank ad: "Ten cars that George Washington slept in — $19 each."

For the less commercially minded, there was a parade in nearby Alexandria, Va., and a pageant at Mount Vernon. There were ceremonies at Washington's Tomb at Mount Vernon, and a reenactment by Army units of Washington's retirement.

Congress was to meet primarily for the tradition reading of Washington's farewell address.

open-arms greeting to Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., first American to orbit the earth.

The joy was tinged slightly with disappointment.

The townspeople had hoped President Kennedy would ride through on his way to greet Glenn at the cape. But word got around Wednesday that the President planned to bypass Cocoa Beach and fly right to this missile test center to give Glenn a medal and make a quick inspection before returning to Palm Beach.

Glenn is still on Grand Turk Island in the Bahamas, winding up a series of exhaustive checks in which doctors and psychologists are trying to gauge how he was affected by prolonged weightlessness and other phenomena of flight in space.

So far, Glenn's condition has checked out as excellent.

The astronaut's wife, two children, parents and in-laws were to head South today for their reunion with the Marine lieutenant colonel Friday.

And they were going prestige class—as guests of Kennedy on his plane bound from Washington to Palm Beach.

The President invited along Glenn's wife, Annie, their son David, 16, and daughter Lyn, 14; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Glenn Sr.; and Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Castor, Mrs. Glenn's father and mother.

From Palm Beach, the astronaut's relatives were due to fly here aboard an Air Force plane, with the President following on Friday.

Kennedy will spend the weekend at the family's winter home at Palm Beach, Fla., visiting with his father, Joseph P. Kennedy. The elder Kennedy is recuperating from a stroke suffered Dec. 19. The President's wife and their two children, Caroline, 4, and John Jr., 1, flew to Palm Beach Wednesday in the family plane.

At his news conference Wednesday Kennedy called Glenn's mission a "magnificent achievement." The President said it goes

Solar Observatory Launching Slated

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — An orbiting solar observatory, nicknamed Oso, is scheduled to be launched here next week to make the most comprehensive study yet of the sun and how it affects conditions on earth.

Flying in a circular orbit 350 miles above the earth, Oso's delicate instruments will be able to take readings uncluttered by the earth's heavy atmosphere.

Major assignment of the 440-pound laboratory will be to measure X rays and gamma, ultra-violet and infrared rays streaming toward earth from the sun. Those potentially deadly particles are absorbed or distorted by the atmosphere and thus are prevented from reaching earth.

Scientists feel the rays and the directions in which they travel hold clues to the origin and history of the solar system. They also may help show how the sun controls our weather, interferes with communications and alters the composition of the globe-circling radiation belts.

SAO Terrorists Kill 11, Injure 15 In Algiers

Make Last-Ditch Effort To Halt Truce With France

ALGIERS (AP) — A wave of terrorist attacks swept Algiers today as the right-wing Secret Army Organization made a last-ditch effort to wreck an impending French-Algerian agreement to end the 7½-year rebellion.

Police reported more than a score of scattered attacks between 7 a.m. and noon, as European gunmen in cars and afoot fired at Europeans and Moslems, killing at least 11 persons and wounding 15.

The violence erupted as the Algerian rebel National Council was called into session in Tripoli to act on an agreement with France to end the strife.

The 60-member parliament was expected to give the needed four-fifths approval to the accord paving the way for Algerian independence, a measure already endorsed by France.

With the measure reported approved by the rebel Cabinet, hopes soared for a cease-fire in the North African territory by Sunday.

Among the victims in today's outbreak were four postmen killed and three wounded. Harried officials accused the secret army of desperately seeking to provoke strikes and major disturbances on the eve of peace.

French headquarters for Algeria appeared confident that the army will succeed in keeping the tense situation in hand when a cease-fire is announced. But the command is not taking any chances on the loyalty of various field commanders.

Informed sources said that the 500,000-man French army in Algeria has been permitted only 15 days of food and fuel supplies.

This drastic reduction from the normal stocks apparently was meant to discourage officers from attempting to join forces with right-wing extremists.

All signs pointed to a last-ditch uprising by the right-wing European Secret Army Organization

More Storms Batter Eastern Half of U.S.

By The Associated Press
More stormy weather battered wide areas in eastern half of the nation today, with snow in northern sections and heavy rain, hail and strong winds in the Southeast.

Blizzard warnings, with snow and strong northerly winds sweeping out of northern Alberta, Canada, were posted for eastern sections of Montana and Wyoming, the Dakotas and extreme western Nebraska.

The snowstorm which swept across the Midwest into the Northeast Wednesday continued in many areas during the night and morning. Heavy snow warnings were issued for parts of Lower Michigan and most of New England. Snow continued across wide areas from the Mississippi Valley eastward to the Atlantic Seaboard.

Heavy rain pelted most of the Southeast, with unofficial falls of 3 to 6 inches in a three-hour period in Macon, Ga. Water was reported two to three feet deep in low-lying areas and some homes were flooded.

The Weather Bureau issued a warning of possible severe thunderstorms with hail and strong winds and possibly tornadoes for extreme east-central Mississippi, most of west-central and east-central Alabama and extreme western part of west-central Georgia.

The new snowstorms forced the closing of schools in many parts

Snowy Roads Cause Mishaps

No One Injured In Area Wednesday

Snow-slick roads were blamed for three of five traffic mishaps on area highways Wednesday. There were no injuries.

Two of the accidents occurred on Rt. 45, just north of Salem.

John A. Kozar, 37, of 466 S. Lundy Ave., lost control of his car in the snow and skidded into the ditch, causing damage to the left side and front of his 1956 auto. This accident at 5:30 p.m. occurred about three miles north of Rt. 165.

About 40 minutes earlier, two cars collided on the same road, one-tenth of a mile north of Rt. 165.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said Martha Jerry, 31, of North Jackson, was traveling north when her car skidded off the right side of the road, then slid back onto the highway into the path of a south-bound vehicle operated by Clarence Bowman, 26, of 562

Nadassy Speaks to County Group

Job In Congress Is Cited For GOP

LISBON — "It's up to you in 1962 to give Kennedy a Republican Congress," Leonard Nadassy of Minneapolis, Minn., chairman of the National Young Republican Federation, told approximately 250 Republicans at a Lincoln Day dinner Wednesday evening at the First Methodist Church.

"Most Republicans say, 'Let George do it' and usually George is a Democrat and he does it, and that is why we have what we have today," he declared.

"Democrats are spending this country to ruin, approximately 10 cents of every tax dollar goes for interest to pay on our national debt, and it's still climbing," the speaker continued. "Our total tax for the year will be 175 billion dollars, or approximately 50 percent of our total working people, causing a spiral inflation, yet they claim their party is for the little people, yet they give no control or have no faith in the individual."

Nadassy charged that the Kennedy administration says it is creating new jobs for the people, but the only jobs they are creating are government jobs for more people and making higher taxes to support their program.

Orville Freeman, agricultural secretary, took some criticism from Nadassy when he said that it took Minnesota people six years to find out he (Freeman) couldn't

Leetonia Council Acts On Road Job

The finance committee will consider the appropriation for recommendation Council for action at the March 3 meeting. The resurfacing may be done this summer.

A cost estimate of $49,000 for a new filtration plant, made by David Lindsay, was turned over to Rev. W. W. Woodall, member of the board of public affairs, for consideration.

Councilman Joseph Weikart wrote a letter to William Readshaw of the Ohio Edison Co. requesting his presence Wednesday evening to survey the village

Kennedy Calls Soviet Move Encouraging

But Notes That U.S. Has Made Same Offer Twice

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has challenged Soviet Premier Khrushchev to waste no time in proving he favors joint efforts to explore outer space.

"I think it is particularly important now, before space becomes devoted to uses of war," Kennedy said at his news conference Wednesday.

Khrushchev had sent a message congratulating the United States on Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.'s triple orbit of the globe and suggesting the two governments combine resources to explore outer space.

Less than four hours after the news conference the White House made public a direct reply to Khrushchev. In it Kennedy expressed hope "that at a very early date our representatives may meet to discuss our ideas and yours in a spirit of practical cooperation."

He added the United States would come up with "new and concrete proposals" for joint enterprises that could be undertaken without delay.

Kennedy opened his news conference with a statement noting that twice before he had offered the same sort of proposition Khrushchev advanced. But the President called the Soviet premier's move an encouraging sign for international cooperation.

Glenn's memorable flight and the possibility of U.S.-Soviet cooperation in space dominated the half-hour meeting with newsmen. But in answering questions Kennedy also disclosed a special board of inquiry is determining whether U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers violated the contract under which he made his ill-fated reconnaissance flight over the Soviet Union on May 1, 1960.

Government officials have interrogated Powers in secret ever since he was released Feb. 10 in a prisoner exchange with the Soviets.

Kennedy said there was no

West Germany Replies to Russian Negotiations Plan

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany agreed today—in replying to a Soviet memorandum suggesting bilateral negotiations on Berlin and Germany—that an improvement in relations between the two countries should be sought through a step-by-step method.

But the Bonn government's answering memorandum, delivered in Moscow by Ambassador Hans Kroll, insisted relations could never be fully normalized until the Soviet Union allows East and West Germany to be reunified through free elections.

The Soviet memorandum of Dec. 27 made a plea for a new understanding between what it called "the two greatest countries of Europe" and proposed bilateral negotiations to that end on the Berlin and German problems.

The Soviet memorandum, couched in friendly terms, offered the hope of some form of German reunification if Chancellor Konrad

Backs Up His Backup Pilot

Col. Glenn Helps Rescue Skin Diver

GRAND TURK ISLAND, Bahamas (AP)—Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. backed up his backup pilot in a sea rescue a day after Glenn himself was pulled from the ocean in his space capsule.

Glenn, brought to this Air Force tracking station for a physical examination and interviews about his 17,500-mile-an-hour flight around the globe, took part in the rescue of a skin diver Wednesday.

His fellow astronaut and backup pilot, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Malcolm S. Carpenter, had been swimming with two unidentified skin divers who live on the island. One had dived to see how deep he could go without a supply of air.

NEXT AFTER MERCURY — NASA planners are looking ahead to the next manned flight step. This will be a capsule similar to Mercury, as shown in drawing above. To be about 14 per cent larger than Mercury, it will carry two men—and thus has been unofficially dubbed Gemini, or "the twins." First of 18 flights is scheduled for 1963. The advanced Mercury is itself a step toward the three-man Apollo spacecraft, which will eventually take men around the moon and back, and will be used to test out Apollo components.

Calmed and relaxed, Glenn Friday meets President Kennedy, and the public also through a news conference at Cape Canaveral. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson is due here late today or early Friday morning to escort the astronaut from his rest home here.

Wednesday night Glenn was guest of honor—with some competition—at a party given by men of this Air Force tracking station manned by personnel of Pan American and Radio Corp. of America. The base is commanded by Capt. John Portasik.

Glenn sat at a table signing autographs by the scores, with the competition provided by America's first astronaut, Navy Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr. Shepard developed writer's cramp also.

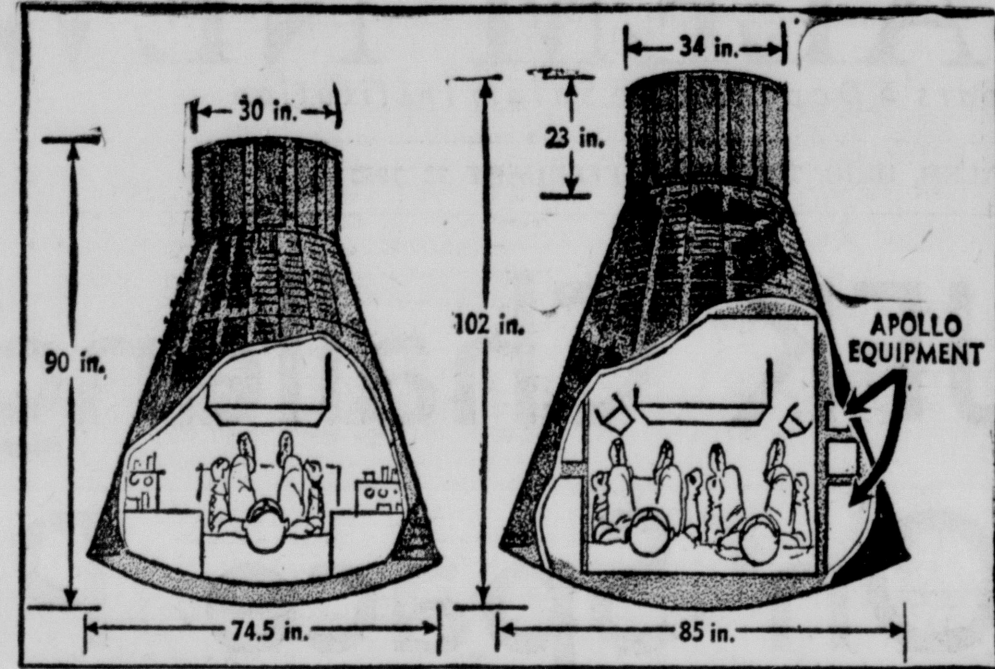

Shepard flew in Wednesday bearing tapes of conversations recorded Tuesday between space and earth, some of them between him and Glenn, to be used in the debriefing.

State of Emergency Declared In Dominica

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The Dominican Republic was held under a state of emergency today as authorities clamped down on terrorists accused of trying to restore dictatorship.

President Rafael Bonnelly's government went into action as vandals set fire to cane fields and sugar mills in the worst flareup since last month's abortive military coup was quelled.

Bonnelly ordered seizure of property belonging to members of the ousted Trujillo dictatorship, charging that his regime was menaced by a conspiracy from both the left and right.

Calling the state of emergency to "defend our incipient democracy," Bonnelly accused terrorists of following a plan aimed at "taking the country down the road to chaos or totalitarian dictatorship."

Focus on Health

By The Associated Press
Medical facilities in the event of atomic attack and new studies on hardening of the arteries figure in the medical news.
Atomic Attack
If atomic attack ever is made on America, many exposed victims in hot fallout areas probably would be pretty much on their own until the radiation subsided to safe levels.

A North Carolina physician queried the American Medical Association on the ethical duties of physicians under such circumstances, saying: "I am not sure I would be capable, even if I had an adequate shelter, of turning down requests for treatment."

An AMA consultant replied: "Civil defense authorities agree that the physician is in the same category as everyone else regarding shelter protection from radioactive fallout. It would be short sighted for a physician to provide medical services to casualties in a hot area that would in a short time incapacitate him to fulfill subsequent medical responsibilities. While this does not appear to be a question of ethics, the physician should recognize that all health services be conserved to provide maximum recovery from such a disaster."

Hardened Arteries
Hardening of the arteries is a major cause of heart attacks in the United States and a recent study in New Orleans indicates it can have a good start in boys by the time they are 10.
Heart researchers studied the coronary arteries of 548 persons who died at various ages from various causes. Their report was carried in the American Journal of Pathology.

It showed that between the ages of 10 and 39, white males have approximately three times as much atherosclerotic involvement—plugging of the artery channel—as white females. The difference decreases after age 40. No such clear-cut difference exists between the sexes among Negroes because Negro women do not seem to share the immunity of young and middle-aged white women.

After age 50, the study indicated, differences between all four groups disappear.

Quick Reference Index

There was talking among educators attending the annual convention of the American Association of School Administrators about getting rid of "excessive" testing of prospective college students.

This is additional evidence that the teaching profession suspects testing is being overdone. The culprit apparently is testing by outside sources that has been added to testing done by educators themselves.

THERE IS MUMBLING and grumbling about letting performance on a test determine a youth's educational future when many things can happen to influence the outcome of a single examination.

If this ever actually happened, the mumbling and grumbling would be called for, but unless college admission authorities all have turned into liars they never make up their minds on the basis of a single test.

They look at the results of all test whose results are available — College Entrance Examinin Board tests, National Merit Scholarship tests and whatever other tests might guide them in selection of educable students.

WITHOUT TESTS, they admit, they would be handicapped because they cannot interview every applicant—and what's an interview, moreover, but a test in itself? There must be some quick-reference index to the academic potentialities of high School students. Only tax-supported institutions can fritter away money to provide space and facilities for students who have no chance to make the grade.

Whatever educators may be thinking about "excessive" tests they will do well to think again and again — and again — and then remember who wants the tests. Students competing for places in first-rate colleges and universities want them. Since most of the "excessive" tests are voluntary anyway, what reason do educators have for complaint

Put Honesty Into the Hopper

The Kennedy administration wants to clear the track for drastic tariff reductions.

Its argument is that the United States must do business freely with the new European Economic Community or find itself on the outside looking in.

In the foreseeable future, say our tariff reducers, the United States must pare down its protection to stimulate trade with potential customers everywhere — in Asia as well as Europe.

The only way potential customers can buy more U.S. goods, runs the argument, is to sell more goods here. We must open the wealthy U.S. market to producers here, there and everywhere. If foreign competition hurts U.S. producers they must grin and bear it. If they are forced out of business, the government will try to help them struggle out of their joblessness and bankruptcy.

It's a thin promise.

We suggest that the Kennedy administration about beef it up by putting a proviso about honesty into the legislative hopper.

The proviso would say that all imported goods shall be inspected by the U.S. government to determine if they are what they purport to be.

The proviso would say the principle of fair trade shall be applied as rigorously to imported merchandise as it is to domestic goods.

It would say and design cannot trademarks be copied willy-nilly and that things should be what they appear to be; i.e., if they appear to be made in the U.S.A. they should be made in the U.S.A., not in Lower Slobovia.

In some situations it might be necessary to let the potential U.S. buyer know what the standard of comparison would be in terms he is familiar with, such as making all imported hand tools bear acknowledgment of the fact they will not meet standards set by U.S. tools, if that is the case.

These are important provisos — important because they concern customers. U.S. manufacturers and their employees have enough trouble in prospect with foreign competition. They have a right to be protected against foreign misrepresentation while they fight for their lives.

Their protection should be spelled out in law.

Youth Will Be Served

As long as 71-year-old Dwight Eisenhower has brought up the subject of age in politics, the subject can be considered officially open. His years give him the right to talk about the importance of young men on Republican tickets this year.

He says he's in favor of more youth in politics.

No one will quarrel with him about that. Everybody is in favor of more youth in politics. But ironically everybody is in favor of judgment in politicians, too, and this is where the youth movement is weak.

Judgment in politics is acquired by trial and error. It is knowing what will work and what will turn into a mess. It is knowing who can be trusted and who shouldn't be allowed out of sight.

It is knowing enough about people as individuals and in the mass to refrain from boring them, using up their patience, or undermining their confidence.

It is being sensitive enough to understand what will enlist popular support and what will alienate it.

Some politicians may be born knowing all these things but most of them acquire it while they are developing the maturity that will keep them from being thrown into a panic by every loud noise and into a cold sweat by every threat to get even with them at the polls.

Few men can develop all the necessary attributes short of their 80th year. It is necessary to look for the attributes, therefore, among men half that age or a little older—say up to age 50—and hope for the best.

If former President Eisenhower is leading up to a youth movement, we reject the proposition because of a flaw in the logic. Government in a representative democracy should not be by the old for the young, or by the young for the old. It would be by young, old and the middle-aged for everybody.

Even the Democrats, who have gone youth-happy in administration, have enough gaffers in their venerable legislative corps to make the whole party look antiquated. If Mr. Eisenhower thinks a youth image would make the Republican party more attractive to voters, he might do well to remember that if he had been allowed to run for re-election in 1960 he would have been a shoo-in at the age of 70.

affection for the people of Viet Nam. They wouldn't know them from the natives of Chad, Yemen, Upper Volta, Gabon, Dahomey, or Sierra Leone, if they met them in a deserted street. Few Americans ever saw a Vietnamese.

This does not mean Americans have any intention of being stand-offish about their Vietnamese brothers.

It means only that Attorney General Kennedy, being young, excitable and perhaps over-impressed with his success as a symbol of U.S. good will spread it on too thick in Saigon. The American people have no feeling one way or the other for the people of Viet Nam, and furthermore have no intention of bleeding and dying unduly for them, a point that was settled some years ago in the case of Korea.

You-All Wantin' Lansing Or D. C., Boss?

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

From now on the vice president of the United States will attempt to see to it that the nation's most celebrated labor chiefs and the unions they lead practice what they preach on racial equality.

In a private meeting in his office last Thursday, Feb. 15 — which was not fully reported — Lyndon Johnson told two NAACP leaders his next major project would be the desegregation of American labor.

The man from Texas told Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, and Herbert Hill, its national labor secretary, that he wanted more than promises. Mr. Johnson said he would move on a formal basis in 30 days.

He has been talking privately with such labor leaders as George Meany and Walter Reuther. He has talked hard and earnestly with other union executives at social functions in the White House, in the Labor Department and at private luncheons.

MR. JOHNSON said that now he was ready to call the labor men for official chats. He said he wanted action. He indicated he desired signed agreements. He told his visitors—with Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg nodding assent at his side—that the organized political strength of the unions involved would not influence him. He listened carefully as his NAACP visitors told him that it is easier for a Negro craftsman to join and stay in a union in the South than in the North. In the skilled construction trades unions, that is.

He listened as they said that virtually all of the 25,000 or so men in the rapidly dwindling ranks of skilled Negro workers are in Southern unions—segregated locals—but still inside them. He heard his intense callers say that there are thousands of Northern locals in which there is not a single Negro.

This includes locals of the operating engineers, the iron workers, the sheet metal workers, the plumbers, the carpenters, the boilermakers, the rail unions.

They pointed out that despite the declarations of some rail union leaders there is, for example, not a single ticket clerk in the depots of the land—the North included.

HERBERT HILL told the vice president that there is not a single Negro in the Washington electrical workers union. Its men have worked on such vast projects as the congressional office buildings and the 12th street expressway.

Even the AFL-CIO national headquarters had to be built without a single Negro electrical worker. This Local 26, IBEW does not have a single Negro member.

In some cities such as New York and Cleveland, as well as Washington, D.C., there are locals of one, sometimes two, Negroes. Hill said the NAACP had tried for the seven years since the AFL-CIO merger to get action—especially from the construction trades. He has not had any results he said.

Hill added that he "would not waste time and the NAACP's money" going to the AFL-CIO Executive Council sessions in Bal Harbor.

The vice president listened as Hill charged that "All we get is pious fakery, but no real action where it counts."

The NAACP officials pointed out four union methods of keeping Negroes out of their unions and from the skilled trades. These are: There is outright exclusion. If specific non-Negro membership clauses are removed, then the exclusion is by tacit consent. Some of these unions are led by members of labor's high command itself.

There are segregated locals. There are separate racial seniority lists.

Refusal to accept Negroes as apprentices. This prevents Negro from learning skills.

IT WON'T BE as easy to force labor to practice what it preaches as it was for the vice president's committee on equal employment opportunity to line up some 52 major corporations. The government can penalize the industrialists by denying government contracts to their companies.

But it now develops there is no real power to compel the unions to comply. There, furthermore are virtually no statistics on which to act. But there will be once Mr. Johnson gets the vital data he's now collecting on 15.5 million employees of 38,000 corporations.

If the vice president fails, the NAACP is preparing to go into court so it can get its people into the factories as they got their children into the schools!

Numbers Games

College Students Now Involved In Cold War

A new weapon has cropped up in the Cold War propaganda battle. We are now, it seems, involved in a debate over whether the United States or the Soviet Union has more "university" students in proportion to total population.

The statistical skirmish started last October with the publication of "Vysshie Obrazovanie v SSSR (Higher Education in the U.S.S.R.)" by the Central Statistical Administration of the U.S.S.R. Council of Ministers.

The publication, attempted to prove that the Soviet Union was substantially ahead of the United States in the university student-to-total population ratio.

U.S. enrollments "according to published official American statistics," were given as 3.37 million out of a total population of 177.7 million for a ratio of 190 students per 10,000 population.

This was substantially better than the Soviet claim to a ratio of 111 per 10,000 based on enrollments of 2.39 million and a total population of 216.14 million during the 1960-61 school year.

THE BOOK then proceeded to provide a second set of statistics for the United States—the only country among the 57 listed in the tabulation to be so treated.

The second set of figure excludes all enrollments in two-year junior or community colleges, all enrollments in the first two years of all other American colleges and universities, and all doctoral candidates.

The resolute of this statistical surgery is a United States ratio of 102 students in "higher education" to every 10,000 persons. This is based on an enrollment of 1.81 million, thus indicating that the United States is lagging behind the Soviet Union in both enrollments and the student-to-population ratio.

All this was justified in the only page of text, aside from the introduction, in a volume devoted to hundreds of statistical tables.

"Date for the United States of America published by American official statistics," the explanation read, "include students of junior colleges, which are not higher educational institutions, and students in the first two years of other colleges and higher educational institutions, which is level of training are regarded as the senior classes of secondary school."

This contention was backed up by quotations from a number of Western sources, including a 1935 statistical survey published by the United States Office of Education, to the effect that the completion of the first one or two years of an American college program is the equivalent of completion of a European secondary school.

The Soviets equated a European secondary school with their own and thus tried to establish that 12 years of American secondary schooling and two years in college were the equivalent of the 10 or 11 year program now provided by the Soviet primary-secondary schools.

THE SOVIETS' new propaganda gambit was uncovered by Seymour M. Rosen, specialist in comparative education for Eastern Europe in the U.S. Office of Education, and outlined in the current issue of "Higher Education," an official Office of Education periodical.

Mr. Rosen proceeded to take up the cudgels for our side.

In the first place, he said, the Soviets' "Mosaic of selected data and generalizations" would lead others to "an inaccurate impression of our colleges and universities."

He did not deny the Soviet contention that graduates of "European" secondary schools had the equivalent of a year or two in an American college. But he implied that what was true of the highly selective French, German and English secondary schools did not necessarily apply to the Soviet educational system and that the Soviet 10 or 11-year system did not, in fact, produce graduates two years ahead of those from our 12-year system.

He raised an even more telling point when he noted that Soviet enrollment statistics include students taking correspondence courses while U.S. figures exclude correspondence students.

Practicing his own statistical subterfuge, he proceeded to show that if correspondence students are excluded, the Soviets had a ratio of 65—not 111—students in their universities for every 10,000 in population. This, according to the Soviets' own tables, put the U.S.S.R. in a class with Outer Mongolia.

In the same vein, Mr. Rosen noted that Soviet statistics do not indicate how many of the 120,000 engineers claimed to have been graduated in 1960—as compared to 38,000 for the United States—were the product of correspondence courses.

Soviet Press

By PHILIP S. COOK

NEW YORK — The Jews of the Soviet Union are once again being made the scapegoats of a carefully prepared drive to re-educate the Soviet masses to the evils of black marketeering, currency speculation and other economic crimes.

The unprecedented treatment in the Soviet press of sensational criminal trials involving alleged economic offenses amounts to a series of didactic warnings to the Russian people: Stop all gray and black-market activities or face the most severe punishment.

The Soviet press seldom reports on criminal or judicial proceedings. Yet in the last three months, major regional and national journals of the Soviet Union have described in lurid detail the conviction and death sentences imposed on 12 Jewish citizens of Russia for self-serving economic activities. In the last year, 38 other Jews received long prison sentences.

The Soviet news agency Tass announced the most recent instance—the sentencing to death by shooting of four Jews in Vilna, the capital of Soviet Lithuania.

The scattered geographic pattern of the press reports and the careful labeling of Jewish principals make it patently clear that Jews are being used as major characters in a Soviet morality play.

A lengthy account of the Vilna trial in Trud, the trade union organ, shows a subtle appeal to traditional Russian anti-Semitic stereotypes.

The villains are never openly identified as Jews, but the article declares, "The desire to make money was their only interest. The 10-ruble gold piece was their idol."

This typically anti-Semitic image of the Jew as a worshiper of gold was followed by an indictment of the Jewish community as pursuing private intrigue at odds with the rest of the Soviet people.

"In the event of disputes they... went to the local rabbi," the article declared. "The rabbi not only knew of the dark affairs his parishioners were involved in, but was their arbiter as well."

In every press account the defendants were indirectly identified as Jews and then portrayed as unscrupulous economic bandits who exploited honest Soviet citizens and connived with one another and with accomplices abroad to make money for themselves.

The significance of these articles as "educational" exercises rests on the careful conditioning of the Soviet citizen to interpret certain unusual announcements and publicity efforts as a warning to himself.

The fact that Russian Jews, a traditionally persecuted minority, are made the principal offenders is designed, in part, to ease the awkwardness of admitting that economic offenses are widespread and remain undetected.

The apparent real goal of Soviet authorities is to intimidate the Russian people as a whole—to frighten them into less flagrant abuse of laws designed to curb black marketeering and profiteering. Such a coordinated domestic propaganda drive suggests that these abuses are now so widespread among the masses of Soviet citizens as to alarm the leaders of the Soviet Union.

A Little Restraint, Hey Bobby?

Our young attorney general's bounce and pounce on his globe-circling trip do not disturb us as much as they disturb some harsher Kennedy critics. We think he and his equally dynamic wife may be doing something to offset the image of the "ugly American."

But if the attorney general was correctly quoted as saying in Saigon that the United States would keep its troops in Viet Nam until Communist aggression had been defeated and if he said that the "American people have a great affection for the people of Viet Nam," we demur.

These are things public officials should say only in private diplomatic conversation, because they are as false as half-inch eyeshades.

The American people do not have great

Soviet has bought one of newest luxury apartments in choicest part of New York to house its U.N. delegates. This gives U.S.S.R. boys a home at the highest level above the plain people and common man. They can live like capitalists while denouncing them.

Russians have made a practice of leasing or buying elaborate homes in America, but this is the first time they have insisted on getting one that was not in the "used home" class. They wanted a new one, fresh off the production line, without a scratch on the original paint, and they got it in one of swankiest sections of Manhattan Island.

New home is in one of city's newest apartment houses, built as a co-operative for the extra well-heeled but it couldn't be rented at rates of $13,000 to $35,000 a year, plus upkeep expenses, so Soviet stepped in and took over. (Ya mean American rich couldn't afford Russian scale of living! !)

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: The company my husband worked for dropped the retirement age for men to 62. They should have raised it to 95.

My husband is able bodied and in excellent health. He looks about 50. He retired 10 weeks ago and I am ready to check into a mental institution just to get away from him.

He follows me around the house like a puppy and monitors my telephone conversations as if he were with the FBI. Everywhere I go he tags along — even to the beauty shop.

Five evenings a week he invites people to dinner and tells me about it later. He says he wants "a little excitement at night" because he doesn't do much all day. I have to cook for the gang and clean up the mess after they leave.

What do you think about me taking a job as an out? Well—I'll be darned! That's exactly what I'll do. Don't even bother to answer this letter, Ann. You've been a great help. — FREE AT LAST.

Dear Ann: My nephew is a sophomore in college. He had a poker game the other evening and while I was in the kitchen fixing sandwiches I heard their conversation.

Either times have changed a great deal since I was a young girl or I was a first-class dummy. I always thought a young man made it a point of honor to protect his girl friend's reputation.

Every fellow present that evening contributed something to the conversation — using names and places. This is the way the girls were rated:

Category A: "Leadpipe Cinch."
Category B: "Difficult but Collapsible."
Category C: "Iffy."
Category D: "No Dice. Save your energy."

I must say I was appalled to hear these young men (between 19 and 22 years of age) exchanging intimate details about the girls they had dated. If the girls could have listened in, as I did, I'm sure they would not be so free with their favors in the future. — OLD MAID AUNT.

The highlight of the evening will come when last year's king and queen, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Salvino will crown a new king and queen.

Dancing will be to the music of Dick Pastula and his Musical Notes of Youngstown. Only couples in costume will be admitted.

Arms, Space Races May Be Separating

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's new bid for Soviet cooperation in outer space is judged here to have some chance of separating the space race from the arms race and leading to a peace pact for the skies.

But the chance is not very great. Nor is the time to get results very long.

The discouraging factor, as Kennedy himself indicated at his news conference Wednesday, is the failure of efforts during the past year to reach accords on any of the pressing, earth-bound issues which have for so long inflamed East-West relations.

The space problem could prove different in one respect, at least. It arises from an area of competition between the Soviet Union and the Western powers and its military potential is large. But although military boosters and military men have figured in space achievements to date, space is not yet committed by either side to war-like purposes so far as anyone here can say.

As Kennedy told reporters Wednesday, he considers it particularly important now to do something about securing the peaceful uses of outer space "before space becomes devoted to uses of war."

He followed up his news conference discussion of the problem.

with release Wednesday night of a message he had sent to Soviet Premier Khrushchev calling for a meeting at a very early date to discuss ideas for the cooperative development of space research and space projects.

Khrushchev earlier in the day had sent Kennedy a message of congratulations on the triple earth orbit by Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. and suggesting the two nations cooperate in exploring outer space.

Kennedy told the Soviet leader he was instructing his officials "to prepare new and concrete proposals for immediate projects of common action."

Administration informants said that these would probably take the form of specific programs to reach objectives already set forth by Kennedy in earlier statements—such as the use of satellites for communications purposes and for weather research and forecasting.

But Kennedy's call for a meeting also opened up the possibility that if East-West cooperation could be seriously started on relatively modest projects it might lead to a joint effort in some more dramatic scheme such as probing the mysteries of the distant planets or putting a man on the moon.

Giant Among Giants

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—As a teenager there were no visible signs to stamp him for future greatness.

His formal education ceased at 17. He was tall, raw-boned and subject to sieges of sickness.

His face was pock-marked, strong-featured rather than handsome. He was not clever or quick-witted, and some found him stuffy.

He had a quick temper, but worked hard to control it—as he did other faults he found in himself.

He was in turn a frontier surveyor, a farmer, a soldier more formidable for his determination than his tactical or strategic skill.

But at 57 this unlikely figure had become the greatest revolutionary leader of his century. He had freed his country from foreign domination, won worldwide stature, and been unanimously chosen its first president.

Although he owned vast acreage, he was "land poor" and had to borrow money—500 pounds—to finance the trip to his own inauguration.

"Any security you may best like I can give, and you may be assured, that it is no more my inclination than it can be yours, to let it remain long unpaid," George Washington wrote to a friend, Richard Conway of Alexandria, Va., early in 1789.

George Washington seems remote today to many of us, lost behind the lattice of legend that fences him from us even as we bring him our tribute of latter-day awe.

He was a giant in a time of giants. Few lands in so short a period have produced such a cluster of gifted men as John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, Alexander Hamilton, Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Paine, and many others.

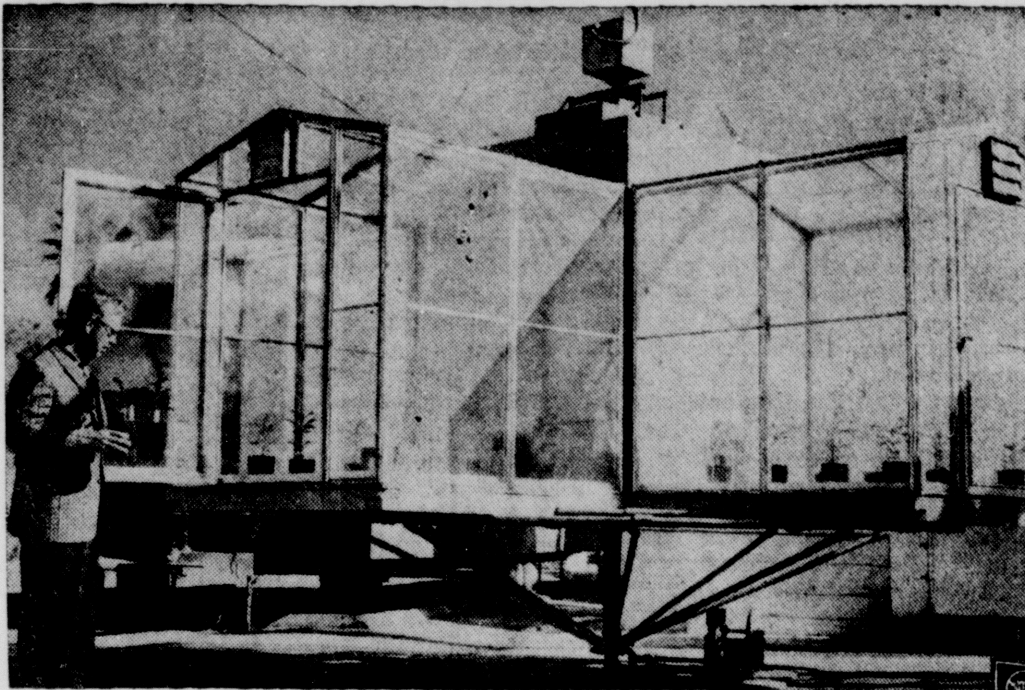

Why did Washington, who lacked their divers talents, tower above them all? The realization of the true greatness of Abraham Lincoln came after he met a martyr's death.

But the superiority of Washington as the only leader who could lead them to victory in war and unity in peace was recognized by most of the great men of his time.

What qualities did they see in him that made him indispensable?

They were the same qualities that, as a teen-age boy, Washington painfully and self-consciously tried to develop—self-discipline, integrity, and a character steadfast and unshaken in the face of any trial.

He learned to command himself before he was summoned to command others. He molded himself before he molded a nation. And no man in history was perhaps less corrupted by that strongest of wines—power.

SCIENCE ON MOVE — Chemist Robert F. Brewer places seedling in compartment of rotating greenhouse he designed to study damaging effects of air pollution on citrus trees. Bliss Scholarship Deadline April 20

The E. W. Bliss Co. is continuing its scholarship program which was initiated six years ago, George Baillie, Jr., assistant general manager here, announced today.

Twenty students, chosen in competitive interviews in the last five years, are being assisted in obtaining engineering degrees in the nation's colleges. They are located at 12 universities and include candidates for mechanical, electrical and metallurgical engineering degrees.

Administered through the company's personnel offices, this year's program will start with the fall term and the scholarships will be renewable each year as the student's need and eligibility continues.

"The amount of financial assistance will be determined by individual case," Baillie said.

To qualify as a candidate, each applicant must have graduated from high school at a fairly recent date with good scholastic rating and take qualifying tests prescribed and administered by the company.

Applications must be made by April 20 on forms obtainable at the Bliss personnel office. Interviews will follow and the company's scholarship board will make the final selections.

The scholarship student may select the engineering college he desires to attend. His curriculum should lead to a bachelor's degree in engineering, and he must maintain scholastic and personal standards satisfactory to the college of his choice.

Already studying engineering under the Bliss scholarship program from this area are John Sinsley of RD 2, Columbiana, at Case Institute of Technology; John Buta of Depot Road, Salem, at Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and Gary Ulitchny, 1760 E. Third St., Salem, at College of Wooster.

and heating job at $54,360 and the Firestone Electric Co. of Salem got the electric contract on a bid of $25,818.

Bids were opened at noon Wednesday. The board received 14 bids for the general contract, 8 for plumbing and heating and two for electric.

Construction of the new school addition is expected to begin immediately and the board hopes that the project will be completed for the opening school in the fall term.

At the present time, Lisbon school system has two classrooms outside the school buildings. One is at the American Legion Home and the other is at St. George's parish hall, along with kindergarten in the Methodist Church. Classes also are being held in the auditorium at McKinley school at the present time.

are going to get their candidates and then promote their stand on a platform of cutting taxes, fight for their beliefs and work toward a goal of self-preservation.

The speaker said the newest dance step sweeping the country is the "Kennedy Twist": "1 step forward, 1 step left, hesitate, and then 2 steps backward."

"The Republican Party is the conservative party in the country today," Nadassy said, "and the only thing we want to conserve is the freedom of the individual. It is the so-called 'liberals' who are the real reactionaries . . . who are trying to ruin the tried and true state and local governmental organizations." The Republicans are going to attack this "credit - card government, in which future generations pay the tab, and we are going to win in November on that basis," he added.

Atty. Charles Pike of Lisbon, vice chairman of the County Republican central executive committee, was the toastmaster.

He introduced Ernest Whitacre of Salem, chairman of the Columbiana County Republican executive committee, who spoke and introduced state and county candidates or their representatives.

Candidates Introduced

Included were Ed Elgin, representing James A. Rhodes for governor; Charles W. Whalen Jr. of Dayton, for Lt. governor; Richard B. Kay of Lakewood, treasurer of state; John S. Lloyd Jr. of Cincinnati and John S. Ballard of Akron, attorney general; Mimi Briley, representing her father John Marshall Briley of Toledo and Charles E. Fry of Springfield for United States senator;

John J. Carrigg of Steubenville, for representative to Congress; Robert M. Bell of Steubenville, member of the state central committee and Mrs. Letha C. Asty of Salem, member of state central committee of the 18th Congressional District;

Emerson Smith of Salem and Gloria L. McElroy of Wellsville for county auditor, and Clarence L. Wetzel for state representative.

Wetzel introduced the guest speaker who arrived late due to snowy road conditions from Cleveland.

A highlight of the evening was the presentation of a charter to the Salem Young Republican club by Mr. Nadassy.

Ernest Lowe, accompanied by his wife Gertrude, lead group singing and Mr. Lowe sang solos. Miss Diane Hall of East Liverpool lead the pledge of allegiance to the flag. The Rev. William Brown of the First Methodist church gave the invocation and benediction.

DESIGNATION PLANNED
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "certified professional photographer" designation is planned for reputable individuals and studios by the Professional Photographers Association of Ohio. It seeks to protect the public from what it calls "the gyp photographer or photo studio."

This proposal and a plan for self-policing will be considered for approval when the association meets here March 3-6.

Negotiations

Adenauer's government would deal with the Communist regime of East Germany.

The answer turned down any such negotiations so long as the policies of Communist leader Walter Ulbricht are continued. This and other references to East Germany seemed to indicate Adenauer's government would be more willing to heed the Soviet memorandum if an improvement in conditions were effected in the East German satellite.

PHOTOSYNTHESIS

Photosynthesis is the process by which plant leaves convert the sun's light into plant energy. Batches of specially organized leaf cells, called chloroplasts, produce chlorophyll, the green substance of all growing plants, and this, in turn, picks out just the rays of sunlight needed to transform water and air into the substance of branches, trunks and root.

no note of the heavy Democratic vote against the plan. If Democrats had gone down the line for the President his proposal would have gone through.

Battle Line, a publication of the Republican National Committee, again accused Kennedy of attempting "to becloud the issue with a cynical appeal to racial prejudice." Battle Line said Kennedy "emerges from the urban affairs fiasco as a man struck down by a boomerang."

The publication said Kennedy had injected a "false race issue" when he said he would appoint Weaver to head the department.

Two House Democrats who are Negroes saw a political bonanza in the whopping rejection of Kennedy's plan.

"The Republicans have really cut their throats," said Rep. Robert N. C. Nixon, of Philadelphia. "They have shown as clearly as it possibly could be shown that they don't care anything for the people in the cities."

Another Negro member, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., said, "The vote was a vote of prejudice, and all minorities will react against it."

The entire issue was heavily charged with politics from the beginning. Republicans decided any notion that they were opposing Wear personally.

Space Plan

evidence so far that Powers did not comply with his contract. He added that he thought he could make "a more final judgment" at the next news conference.

As for the chance of lowering barriers between the United States and the Soviet Union on space projects, Kennedy said this country would be happy to discuss cooperation at the United Nations or anywhere else. But he insisted cooperation would have to be genuine. And he acknowledged there is no more assurance now than ever that the Soviets are willing to transform general expressions of togetherness into specific agreements.

The conference was Kennedy's sixth in as many weeks.

He had this to say on other subjects:

Urban Affairs — Despite the House vote killing for this session of Congress his proposal to establish a department of urban affairs, one will be created sooner or later.

Corridors — Any interference with Western rights of air or land transport over East Germany into West Berlin would carry "hazards which none of us should welcome if we look to the possible end of the road."

Berlin — If there are indications that bringing foreign ministers together on the Berlin crisis would produce results, "then I think we ought to do it."

Taxes — They can't be cut now. Southeast Asia — The United States is still prepared to offer every bit of assistance to make the government of South Viet Nam more effective for the people themselves.

Freedoms Foundation Awards Announced

The Economic and Business Foundation today received its fifth freedom award from the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa.

The George Washington honor medal award was also presented to Dr. Milford F. Henkel of Malone College, Canton, for "American History Taught to First Graders," and Malone College received an honor certificate award for the college campus program.

The foundation conducts teacher workshops in economics and related subjects in this area and provides speakers for assembly and civic programs.

KILLED IN CRASH

PORTLAND, Ind. (AP) — A highway crash killed Bernard Shearman, 29, of Warrensville Heights, Ohio, Wednesday. The car hit the rear of a semi-trailer truck on Ind. 67 a half-mile west of the Ohio state line.

Palestine Light Plant Bids Studied

EAST PALESTINE — Bids were opened at noon Wednesday in city hall, for contracts 7, 8 and 9 of the $835,000 addition to the municipal light plant.

The low bidder, and apparent winner, of contract 7, which is for mechanical work and piping, was the Huffman-Wolf Co. of Columbus, with a bid of $85,990. Bids for contract 7 ranged upwards to $126,125 by the Commercial Piping Co. of Youngstown.

Contract 8, electrical; low, Bruce Merilees Co. of New Castle, $14,595. High bidder, Blaw Knox Co. of Pittsburgh, $19,118.

Contract 9, general construction. Low bid, $84,884, from the J. G. Madden and Son of East Palestine. Bids for this phase ranged upward to $109,968 by the R. Hanson Co. of Cleveland.

Fourteen bids were opened for study and contracts will be awarded at a later date.

pledged to keep Algeria French. For the first time French troops battled openly in field combat Wednesday with secret army members.

But the Moslem nationalists obviously believed that the end of their long battle against France — and possibly the beginning of a new struggle against Algeria's Europeans — was near at hand. They distributed tracts among Algeria's nine million Moslems urging them to avoid clashes with Europeans and to "demonstrate your joy within your own areas."

President Charles de Gaulle's government approved the Algerian agreement Wednesday night after nearly four hours of discussion.

Louis Joxe, minister of Algerian affairs and top French negotiator with the nationalist rebels, spoke for more than an hour on the tentative accord hammered out in secret talks in France last week. The document, more than 100 pages long, spells out provisions for a cease-fire and steps for a self-determination referendum which De Gaulle fully expects to decide for independence.

It also provides for future economic, cultural and other cooperation between France and the new Algerian state and for guarantees for the European minority.

No amount of guarantees, however, was expected to placate diehards in the secret army.

The French commander in Algeria, Gen. Charles Ailleret, visited Oran to discuss emergency measures with the local corps commander in that secret army stronghold. Steel-helmeted troops in bullet-proof vests patrolled the streets of Algiers in armored vehicles.

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Truck driver Earl Smith, 47, of Fostoria survived without extensive injury a collision with a freight train that dragged his meat truck about 500 yards Wednesday.

"Betting on a horse at the race track is no different than betting on a number or playing poker. Therefore, if betting on a horse at the race track is legalized then bingo, and the numbers and others should be legalized. This will be the answer to our problem of obtaining money to help our state's finances which is necessary to help us go forward instead of backward."

Glenn

"far beyond our own time and our own country."

"The success of this flight, the new knowledge it will give us, and the new steps which can now be undertaken, will affect life on this planet for many years to come," he said.

Cocoa Beach, which considers itself Glenn's second home, will show its feelings for him during a slow-moving motorcade which will carry the red-haired, green-eyed Marine war hero the 20 miles from Patrick Air Force Base to the cape.

Brevard County schools will be out. And thousands of persons from other central Florida communities, perhaps from even further away, are expected to flow into Cocoa Beach and line the broad highway that forms its main street.

Police Chief William M. Walker was bracing for a big traffic snarl, perhaps bigger than the one last Tuesday when about 55,000 persons jammed the beaches to watch Glenn's rocket take off.

Mayor Thomas S. Kennedy was drafting a proclamation of welcome to mark Glenn's return.

Glenn is due to reach the cape's own airfield about 15 minutes before the President's planned touchdown at about 10:30 a.m. There, they will meet again—Glenn visited the President at the White House early this month.

Kennedy probably will look in on the ground control center, heart of the man-in-space operation, and see Pad 14 from which Glenn blasted off.

At Hangar "S", where Glenn prepared for his great adventure, Kennedy will present him with the space agency's Distinguished Service Medal—the climax of the day.

The President will return to Palm Beach about noon, and Glenn then will face what promises to be a heavily covered news conference before he and his family go off on what a space agency official said will be a quiet weekend.

Next Monday, the Glenns will link up with the President again at Palm Beach and fly from there to Washington where this country's ranking space explorer will receive the thanks of Congress and the fullest possible honors.

Snowy Roads

Franklin St., Salem. The cars collided, causing minor damage to both.

Another accident occurred at 6:45 p.m. on Rt. 164, about one and one-half miles north of Lisbon. It involved David C. Slifka, 39, of Youngstown who the Patrol said skidded off the road and struck a guard rail.

Richard A. Riley, 18, of RD 1, Rogers' was involved in a one-car mishap on Rt. 154, about two and one-half miles east of Rogers, at 10:30 p.m.

The Patrol reported he swerved to miss a car driving in the middle of the road and ran into a guard rail.

Rex Brady, 49, of Massillon lost control of his car on a slight curve and slid over an embankment on Rt. 9, about a half-mile south of New Garden, at 10:30 p.m. The car did not overturn, the Patrol reported.

There were several other unreported accidents caused by slippery roads last night, but most of the snow melted overnight when temperatures moderated.

1962 CHEVROLET JOBMASER TRUCKS

built better...work longer!

When Chevrolet builds a truck, it builds a quality truck. This policy makes sense. Chevrolet trucks work a long time...cost less than many other makes to operate and maintain over the years...consistently bring a higher trade-in price...and, as a result, are bought by more people.

We invite you to come in and examine this quality closely and to take a 1962 demonstrator out for a good long test drive. Note the cab comfort, the good visibility, the smooth ride, the solid feel of its quality. Compare Chevrolet truck features with those of other makes. Then decide which are your wisest investment. We're sure it will be Chevrolet's.

Note how this Chevrolet cab roof is made of two sheets of metal, instead of one, with a layer of felt in between as insulation against cold, heat and noise.

A Chevrolet truck tailgate is sturdier because it has double-wall construction and strong steel chains in tough rubber casing to support it.

Quality independent front suspension fights road shock more effectively than other types — provides more protection for the truck, load and driver.

The standard 235-cu.-in. 6-cylinder Chevrolet truck engine has worked more miles than any other. There are nine more engines to choose from.

Today's World Would Confuse Washington

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — The world today—or maybe just some of the people in it—would confuse even George Washington.

This nation, celebrating the 230th anniversary of his birth, is honoring him for many things while still acclaiming an event which this week demonstrated both his foresight and his lack of it.

This was Tuesday's triple orbit H. Glenn Jr., who, by traveling 81,000 miles in a few hours, of the earth by Astronaut John showed how much closer the nations are than they were in Washington's time.

The Russians not only joined in praising Glenn but Premier Khrushchev, in a congratulatory note to President Kennedy, suggested America and Russia pool their resources to conquer space.

Kennedy, full of pride in the astronaut but also thinking of the future, reminding Khrushchev he had proposed cooperation in the past, said it would be fine and that he'd try to figure a way of bringing it about.

But, while Khrushchev was saying nice things to Kennedy out of one side of his mouth, and never mentioning Washington, his newspaper Izvestia was praising Washington and denouncing America's "rulers."

The newspaper said "the facts show that the current rulers of the United States have trampled the great heritage of the founder of independent American government."

"America today is the stronghold of warmongers, war and colonialism."

But if Washington were President today—judging from his final advice to America—he'd show a lot less responsiveness than Kennedy to Khrushchev's proposal to collaborate on overcoming space.

In his farewell address in 1796 Washington warned his countrymen against getting tangled up with Europeans.

He said: "Why, by interweaving our destiny with that of any part of Europe, entangle our peace and prosperity in the toils of European ambitions, rivalships, interest, humour, or caprice?"

This made sense then when it took weeks to sail to Europe and the Atlantic Ocean was America's greatest protection against European attack.

It made sense, too, to other Americans for more than a hundred years in which they took Washington's advice and stayed out of European alliances.

But after two world wars—and the development of planes and missiles which made the Atlantic look no larger than a ditch and Europe right next door—Washington's advice was found to be out of date.

He might be astonished, if he were alive today, to find the United States, so confidently remote, isolated and safe in his time, now not only a member of the United Nations but in alliances around the world.

It was either line up with allies or watch communism take over the rest of the earth. So on this point—the belief that America would remain isolated—Washington lacked foresight.

But his foresight was excellent—and still valid—in being suspicious about entanglements. There was a lot of soul-searching in this country before it became allied at all.

But suspicion of making deals with Russia has never subsided. Nothing illustrates this better than the Kennedy-Khrushchev proposals about cooperation in space. No such cooperation is anywhere in sight.

The United States and Russia, because of their suspicion of each other, so far not only haven't been able to cooperate in space but still haven't been able to cooperate on earth.

Couple Waives Extradition On Kidnaping Charge

SIOUX CITY, Iowa (AP)—A young couple have waived extradition to Ohio to face charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for the alleged kidnaping of a 12-year-old girl.

Robert Donald McKeehan, 25, and his wife, Elta, 22, were arrested here on an FBI warrant.

Thomas J. Gearty, special agent in charge of the Iowa-Nebraska FBI office in Omaha, said the girl was with them. The child is Linda Lee Hayes of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, daughter of Mrs. Thelma Mayville.

Gearty said the McKeehans were charged with kidnaping in a complaint filed by Mrs. Mayville at Akron, Ohio. He said the couple left Akron last Jan. 17 and departed from Cuyahoga Falls the next day.

Gearty said the couple had been employed in a Snacks, Inc., eating establishment in Akron by the girl's mother. Officials said Mr. and Mrs. McKeehan claimed that the girl left with them voluntarily.

Mrs. McKeehan had been working as a waitress here. Gearty said the couple worked as waiter and waitress for Mrs. Mayville last December and January.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University and Ohio State athletes each won four events in the fifth annual All-Ohio College Indoor Track and Field Meet Wednesday night. Ohio U.'s Willie Love was the only double winner in the event at Ohio State University's field house.

Ohio State's four winners were headed by football star Paul Warfield of Warren, who got off an excellent broad jump of 24 feet, 11½ inches to break the meet record.

Maris, Cepeda, Colavito Unsigned

Small Baseball Holdout List Includes Three Big Sluggers

By The Associated Press
Only a handful of major league players have yet to come to salary terms with their teams, but the handful includes some of the top names in the business.

They include Roger Maris, Orlando Cepeda and Rocky Colavito.

Maris has failed to come to agreement after several conferences with New York Yankee officials. He is believed to be asking $75,000, double last year's salary.

Colavito, who had 45 home runs and a .290 average last season, apparently reached a standstill in his negotiations with the Detroit Tigers Wednesday.

The handsome outfielder received an estimated $35,000 last season and is believed to be asking $50,000.

Cepeda is believed to be asking about the same. The San Francisco slugger led the National League with 46 home runs last season, and had 142 runs batted in and a .311 average.

He has returned an unsigned contract calling for about $40,000, a 33.1 per cent increase.

Two of the top players to come to terms Wednesday were outfielder Frank Howard and pitcher Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers. Each received a boost. Howard signed for about $18,000, Koufax for about $25,000.

Conerly announced his decision Wednesday, then signed on with the Giants for scouting and public relations work.

"I decided I'd had enough. It gets tougher every year, physically and mostly mentally," he commented. "It was harder and harder to keep getting up week after week. As you get older you lose something."

Conerly originally was drafted by the Washington Redskins in 1945 while he was away in the Marines. After the war, he returned to the University of Mississippi, became a renowned passing star for the Rebels, and by the time he was ready for the NFL in 1948, was the property of the Giants.

Counting two divisional playoffs and four league title games, he completed 1,465 passes in 2,923 attempts for 20,259 yards and 177 touchdowns.

He remained the Giants' No. 1 quarterback until this past season, when he finally gave way to Y. A. Tittle, another old-line pro obtained from San Francisco.

SEEK GRID OPPONENT
Leotonia High School desires a football opponent, Class AA or A, for a game either Nov. 9 or 10, according to George P. Hanna, high school principal. Any school interested in a game with the Bears on either of the dates is asked to contact Principal Hanna at the high school.

Some of the others were pitcher Jim Maloney and Johnny Klippstein and catcher Darrell Johnson of Cincinnati; pitcher Billy Hoelt of Baltimore; catcher Carl Sawatski and first baseman Frank Leja of St. Louis; older Howie Bedell of Milwaukee and relief pitcher Bobby Bolin of San Francisco.

Minerva Man Gets Scarce Cage Ducat
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The name of Stewart McHenry of Minerva was the first picked in an open draw Wednesday to determine who will get the scarce tickets available to the general public for the state high school basketball finals.

The Ohio High School Athletic Association drew about 1,500 names from mailed-in applications. The winners will be billed within a few days.

The rest of the 13,497 seats in St. John Arena are reserved for school officials, coaches, competing schools and other special groups.

The "season" tickets cover two Class AA and two Class A sessions Friday and Saturday, March 23-24.

Dayton, perennial also-ran in the National Invitation Tournament, will take another crack at the elusive title.

The Flyers were named to the 1962 NIT Wednesday, making it six teams in and six to go for the New York basketball postseason classic. A few hours later they marked their selection with a 78-67 home court victory over Memphis State, running their record to 16-6.

Dayton has competed in nine of the last eleven NIT's and has been the beaten finalist no less than five times. For this year's tourney at Madison Square Garden, March 15-24, the Flyers go into a field that so far includes defending champion Providence, Loyola of Chicago, Duquesne, Houston and St. John's of New York.

Basketball's other big postseason affair, the NCAA, did not pick up any new entrants but did announce the sites for three first round games. On March 12, Arizona State University's Border Conference champions will meet the Skyline Conference representative at Tempe, Ariz., and Air Force Academy will play the Southwest Conference winner on the latter's floor. On March 13, Oregon State and Seattle will tangle at Corvallis, Ore.

Wake Forest clinched at least a tie for regular season first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference, coming from behind in the final 10 minutes and beating North Carolina State 69-62.

Providence blew seven points of an eight-point lead in the closing seconds but hung on for a 76-73 victory over St. Joseph's (Pa.) in the windup of a doubleheader at Philadelphia's Palestra. In the opener at Philadelphia, Lafayette won for the first time in 26 games and protected its Middle Atlantic Conference lead with a 73-69 upset of LaSalle.

Duquesne ended a three-game losing string and Pitt scored a surprise at the Pitt Field House. The Dukes overwhelmed Georgetown University 72-52 and Pitt upended Temple 71-65.

Bowling Green's Mid-American Conference champions smothered DePaul 83-51, zipping away to a 16-13 lead and coasting in.

Western Kentucky, champion of the Ohio Valley Conference, outpointed Xavier of Ohio 53-48 in a torrid second half shooting display beating the visitors 88-83.

Dayton, perennial also-ran in the National Invitation Tournament, will take another crack at the elusive title.

The Flyers were named to the 1962 NIT Wednesday, making it six teams in and six to go for the New York basketball postseason classic. A few hours later they marked their selection with a 78-67 home court victory over Memphis State, running their record to 16-6.

Dayton has competed in nine of the last eleven NIT's and has been the beaten finalist no less than five times. For this year's tourney at Madison Square Garden, March 15-24, the Flyers go into a field that so far includes defending champion Providence, Loyola of Chicago, Duquesne, Houston and St. John's of New York.

Basketball's other big postseason affair, the NCAA, did not pick up any new entrants but did announce the sites for three first round games. On March 12, Arizona State University's Border Conference champions will meet the Skyline Conference representative at Tempe, Ariz., and Air Force Academy will play the Southwest Conference winner on the latter's floor. On March 13, Oregon State and Seattle will tangle at Corvallis, Ore.

Wake Forest clinched at least a tie for regular season first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference, coming from behind in the final 10 minutes and beating North Carolina State 69-62.

Providence blew seven points of an eight-point lead in the closing seconds but hung on for a 76-73 victory over St. Joseph's (Pa.) in the windup of a doubleheader at Philadelphia's Palestra. Greenford Five Reaches Mahoning Finals

Greenford High School's rambling varsity basketball team moved itself right into the finals of the Mahoning County Class A cage tournament with a 80-52 drubbing of Jackson - Milton at Struthers Field House Wednesday night.

The Bobcats, who are now favorites to cop the tourney title, will meet their old foe Lowellville in the championship game tonight at 8:40 p.m. The Rockets of Lowellville moved into the championship slot with an upset win over Springfield Local 50-48 in last night's nightcap.

In the opening tilt of last night's three-game card, North Lima eliminated Sebring from the tourney with a 66-39 victory in the consolation bracket.

Meets Lowellville In Tourney Championship

In the championship tilt tonight, Greenford will be taking on Inter-County opponent Lowellville for the third time this year. In both regular season meetings, the Bobcats came out victorious, 62-57, and 72-62 to cop the loop title.

It took a strong second half rally by the slow-starting Bobcats to pull the victory out from upset-minded Jackson-Milton last night. The Blue Jays found the range in the first half and held a 20-13 first period margin and were ahead 36-24 at halftime.

COACH JERRY SUESS' charges began to roll in the second half to take the edge 59-40 in the third frame and coast the rest of the way. The Bobcats tallied 56 points in the second half to only 16 for the losers.

Greenford displayed a three-man scoring machine, with Rich Arnold, Dave Tyo and Ed Feren each hitting the nets for 16 points. Junior forward Jack Porter paced the losers with 13 markers, with teammate Dan Daugherty also high with 10.

Lowellville, which has taken 14 previous Mahoning County tourney titles, utilized a fourth period surge to upset Springfield Local of the Turnpike Conference. The Tigers led at all quarter marks by counts of 6-4, 22-15 and 36-31, before the Rockets pulled it out with 19 points in the final canton, while holding the losers to only 12.

Sophomore Jerry Benson featured for the winners with 16 points, while senior Jim Allen sparked the losers' attack with 19 markers.

NORTH LIMA had little trouble dropping Sebring out of the tourney. The Zippers, still mad from their 50-51 loss to Greenford in the first round, led at every quarter stop. 14-8, 27-16 and 53-27.

Three Zips hit in double digits, with John Stear high man with 19 tallies, followed by Jim Reed's 17 and Ward Manchester's 14. Senior Dave Zeppernick paced the losers with 12 counters.

In action tonight, besides the championship clash between Greenford and Lowellville at 8:40 p.m., Jackson-Milton will meet Springfield Local at 6 p.m. in the losers bracket, and North Lima will tangle with Western Reserve at 7:20 p.m., also in the consolation bracket.

The winners of the two consolation games will advance to the losers bracket final Saturday at 8:40 p.m. The winner of this final and the champion will both advance to the Class A Sectional in Warren.

Meets Crestview For Title Saturday

United Advances To County Final After Trampling Salineville 71-46

Coach Larry Joseph's United Golden Eagles made their initial start along the basketball tournament trail an impressive one as they rolled over Salineville 71-46 in the three-team Columbiana County Class A playoffs in the Beaver Local High gym Wednesday night.

The Golden Eagles now advance into the tourney championship game Saturday night with Crestview, which drew a bye since it had the best record of the three clubs.

United had little trouble with the Indians last night, with Coach Joseph cleaning his bench and using a total of 12 players. The win moved the Golden Eagles to an over-all mark of 11-8 and ended the Indians' season with a dismal 1-18 record in all games.

Coach Joseph's charges struck for an early 20-7 first period lead and then poured it on the rest of the way, with the bulge 45-13 at halftime and 55-24 heading into the final stanza. At one time in the third stanza, the winner held a 34-point margin. Coach Joseph began substituting players in the third quarter, with all second stringers playing the entire fourth canto.

United's senior forward Jerry Schaffer paced the winning attack with 19 points, while his teammate, senior guard John Hanna, was close behind with 16 tallies.

Columbiana County's second leading scorer, 6-0 senior Jack Baker, featured for the losers with 22 counters.

In last night's preliminary game among two of the three teams in the county reserve tourney, the Salineville Jayvees dumped their Crestview opponents 39-34, and will now meet the United Reserves Saturday night for the title.

In the varsity championship final Saturday, Crestview will pit its superior record and height against the Golden Eagles' aggressiveness and ability to get up for tourney frays. The Rebels, under Coach Bruce Weber, have compiled a 16-2 mark thus far along in the season.

Saturday night's winner will advance to the Canton Class A Sectional Tourney, where the county's exempted schools, Leetonia and Columbiana, will also compete.

Major League Appraisals

By WALTER ALSTON
VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — I expect the customary dogfight for the National League pennant this season.

I know one thing for sure. We're going to have a happier bunch of left-handed hitters. That's because we're moving into the new Dodger Stadium in the Chavez Ravine. The right field fence in the Coliseum was too tough a target even for our best lefty batters such as Duke Snider, Johnny Roseboro, Willie Davis, Ron Fairly and Wally Moon. They are all looking forward to playing at the ravine where the measurements are the same down each foul line, 325 feet.

Our right-handed hitters, Frank Howard, Tommy Davis, Daryl Spencer and Norm Sherry all have enough power to reach the barriers in left field in the new park.

The new park also should make a difference to our pitchers. I know Don Drysdale, Johnny Podres, Sandy Koufax and Stan Williams are capable of winning many games. What we need is for each one of them to have a good year together.

LITTLE LIZ

McCULLOCH'S

SPRING has arrived! At least it has at McCulloch's. Signs of it are everywhere and what a lift they give us.

SEVERAL weeks ago our buyers returned home from New York and since then each day brings us cartons of new merchandise—fresh and pretty as Springtime.

THE DAY the hats arrived—it was like a tonic to all of us! No wonder, for it was a glimpse at the first flowers of Spring, and Nature herself must have had a hand in fashioning them. The really feminine look of '62 is so obvious here—hat styles vary but they are all definitely feminine—from the Little Girl look to the Femme Fatale. Hat designers certainly went all out to give us the utmost in silhouette and fabrics this year.

SPEAKING of the more feminine look in 1962—nothing shows it more than blouses. The blouse is a mighty important factor to the wardrobe. They have a decided new authority of their own. Some have the presence of a jacket—in fact with the right skirt and the added charm of a scarf or stole it often has the look of a suit. Blouses go inside or outside skirts, some slightly fitted, some belted, some loosely self tied.

ONE THING they all have—the look of femininity. The fabrics are beautiful and the flower prints are breathtaking. Try a wildflower print under a tweed suit—it's fetching. Try one of the many ruffled styles and just see what a "I'm glad I am a girl" feeling it gives you.

COLORS this year are so flattering. They are not the brights of last season. Every color has been toned down with white. The fruit colors are lovely and the apricot to tangerine colors have replaced the more vivid orange just as peachy pinks and corals are replacing the brighter pinks. Blues have not been so good in years and are many—from pale forget-me-not blues to the blue of the flag. That brings us to the Americana look—and how proudly we should wear it—the red, white and blue of our country.

IT'S SUCH A striking combination—in tri color or bi-color; in dressy things; in sportswear, in accessories. It's always a significant fashion look but somehow this year when we've such a magnificent achievement just accomplished, it's more than ever appropriate that we wear it.

CARTONS and cartons—every day they arrive. We love to set out these pretty things for our customers—makes all of us think in Spring terms. Come in and see our signs of Spring and each day brings new ones.

News of Interest to Farmers

FEED GRAIN PROGRAM

"Farmers should study how participation in the 1962 Feed Grain Program will affect their net farm income," says Dr. Wallace Barr, Ohio State University extension economist.

Under provisions of the program, farmers will receive payments for diverting to conservation use 20 to 40 percent of their feed grain acreages. In addition, feed grain crops raised on remaining land will be eligible for price supports. So farmers have several alternatives on extent of participation, Dr. Barr says. Each alternative will have a different effect on their net income.

Budget forms are included in an Extension Facts Leaflet "1962 Feed Grain Program." The leaflet is available from county extension offices. Farmers can use the information and forms in estimating net income whether or not they participate in the program. By comparing these estimates, Dr. Barr says, farmers will have a factual basis for making their decision.

How Much Corn for Beef?

Final results from recent Purdue University research question whether you can afford to fatten your cattle on a full feed of corn, says Successful Farming magazine.

Four lots of 480-pound steer calves were on feed for 205 days and fed two pounds of Supplement A, 1.5 pounds of corn per head daily, and all the corn silage they could eat. Steers in Lot 1 got no additional corn. Steers in Lot 11 received 1-3 of a full feed of corn; steers in Lot 111, 2-3 of a full feed of corn; and steers in Lot IV, a full feed of corn.

Steers fed one-third, two-thirds, or a full feed of corn gained similarly—approximately 470 pounds in 205 days for a 2.3 daily gain. Only the Lot I steers were slow gainers. No growth stimulants were used.

Ohio Barrow Show

Nearly 500 barrows, including some of Ohio's meatiest hogs, will parade in the show ring Feb. 17 in the state's annual Spring Barrow Show at the Madison County fairgrounds at London, O.

More than 125 swine growers in 35 Ohio counties will have entries, says Herbert Barnes, Ohio State University extension swine specialist.

Field Days' Schedule

The Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station will conduct 10 field days in 1962, Dr. Roy M. Kottman, director, has announced.

Eight of the field days will be on the Experiment Station campus at Wooster.

Field days and special days are designed to give Ohioans an opportunity to see research in action, to benefit from the results of research projects, and to ask questions of Station research scientists. Included in the programs will be subjects which will appeal to town and country people alike.

The Station will open its field day season with Greenhouse Vegetable Day May 3, followed by Small Fruits day June 14.

Christmas tree growers will have their field day June 23 at the Southeast Substation, Carpenter, while Sheep Day is scheduled July 13 on the Ohio State University campus in Columbus.

The Wooster Station will conduct four field days in August. They include Orchard Day Aug. 2, Dairy Day Aug. 10, Swine Day Aug. 17, and the Ohio Pesticide Institute Aug. 20 and 21.

At Lawn and Ornamentals Day Sept. 21 and 22 visitors will see test plots of nearly every lawn grass grown in Ohio. Poinsettia Day, Nov. 29 will conclude the 1962 field day schedule.

Livestock Water Heaters

Even livestock waterers are coming in "compact" these days.

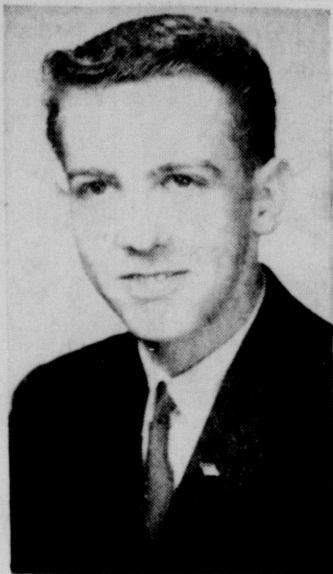

Small water bowls or drinking cups are taking the place of larger water tanks or troughs on many Ohio farms, according to William R. Schnug, Ohio State University extension agricultural engineer.

Small waterers offer more convenience and flexibility in the water supply, Schnug says. They are easier to clean, and to keep clean, than tanks. They also are easier to heat in winter.

Farm equipment manufacturers now offer farmers a wide variety of electrically heated water bowls and cups for cattle, hogs and sheep. Some units heat the water directly; others heat the air in an inner chamber of the bowl.

The type which heats the water appears to be the more popular and generally is more efficient, Schnug says. Both types, however, have advantages over a large tank in that a small amount of water is exposed. This means that water can be maintained at higher temperature while the operating cost is relatively low—two or three cents a day.

Heated bowls should have rugged construction, Schnug says. Electrical connections should be insulated from the metal portions by plastic or ceramic bushings or covers. The water inlet should have features to prevent back-siphoning when the water pressure falls.

Grounding is important. "We've had several complaints of cattle and hogs being killed by shock from electrically heated water bowls," Schnug says. He suggests farmers follow manufacturer's instructions and consult local power suppliers about how to ground such units.
